UM COEDS ENTERTAIN BOYS' STATE DELEGATES

MISSOULA--

It's often true that older women hold a special attraction for younger men-- especially when the women are college juniors and the men are high school seniors!

Five University of Montana music majors presented an hour-long performance to the Boys' State delegates in Dillon Monday (Aug. 14) and all the coeds agreed the audience was one of the most enthusiastic they had seen.

UM Director of Admissions Homer E. Anderson, who chaperoned the quintet, said the entertainment was well received not only by the delegates but also by the senior counselors who are former Boys' State delegates. "In fact, I received a standing ovation after being introduced as the person responsible for bringing the program to Dillon," he said.

Light music and scenes from Broadway shows comprised the majority of the program which was arranged by George D. Lewis, assistant professor of music.

The women who were selected from Summer School music students included Nancy Johnson from Great Falls, Nola Mundt from Glasgow, Marcia Olson from Great Falls, Gloria Phillip from Missoula and Linda Lee Thomas from Cardston, Alta.

Mr. Anderson originated the idea for the musical program almost a decade ago. In former years the performers signed autographs for the delegates, but as the number of delegates kept increasing to more than 500 while the number of coeds remained constant the practice had to be ended.
